

Kentucky Exposition Center
Louisville, Kentucky

celebrates the

Saddle and Sirloin Club

The world's largest gallery of quality portraits devoted to a single industry, hang in the halls of our Exposition Center. Portraits of the 347 livestock industry leaders, recognized by their peers, hang in memory of their many contributions.

This 106th Anniversary Portrait Catalog celebrates the event at the Exposition Center in November, 2009. A history of the Saddle and Sirloin Club, whose members conceived and continued this respected tradition over the past century, is a continued feature of this issue.

About the Cover –

The cover features the sculpture “Bull in Defiant Stance” by Isidore Bonheur, on exhibit at the University Art Collection, Iowa State University, Ames, IA. That University won possession of the coveted trophy by winning the International Collegiate Judging Contest in 1901, 1902 and 1903. The sculpture became the trademark of the International during its 76 year history. The imposing Freedom Hall of the Exposition Center, where the portrait gallery now resides, forms a fitting backdrop that gives evidence of the continuing tradition. The artist in his collage has tied the ongoing present to a great past.
