Louisville, KY – November 20, 2014 – Savannah Page, the ten-year-old daughter of Phil and Christy Page, exhibited the winning market hog at this year’s North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE). Savannah resides in Jefferson, GA. She enjoys showing cattle and hogs, as well as competing in showmanship. Savannah won second place in the Division 2 showmanship contest this year at the NAILE. Savannah is a straight A student and wants to be a teacher when she grows up. Savannah also wants to attend the University of Georgia when she gets older, just like her parents.

Savannah’s 279 pound, crossbred hog sold in the Sale of Champions for $13,500. The hog was purchased by JBS, USA, Louisville, KY; Louisville Area Broadcasters; Clark County Indiana Livestock Producers & Agribusiness; and McZee’s Ice, Taylorsville, KY.

The North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE) is an annual event that attracts thousands of livestock producers from across America. More than 200,000 visitors attended the big expo, and 29,095 livestock entries competed in ten specie categories. The NAILE is the largest purebred exposition in the world, and successful competitors take home over $750,000 in premiums and awards. The North American International took place in Louisville, KY during November 8-21.
